

DIES AT INDIANAPOLIS

Mr. J. Laurence White, Assistant State Treasurer, Dies at Indiana Hospital.

Friends here were grieved to learn this morning that Mr. J. Laurence White, of this city, Assistant State Treasurer of Kentucky, had died at a hospital in Indianapolis, Ind., where he has been for treatment for several weeks. Deceased had been in failing health for more than a year and in spite of all that medical aid and skill could do he gradually grew weaker until the end came this morning at one o'clock.

Mr. White was born September 2, 1870, and lived in this city and county most of his life. He was a man with a quiet and dignified mien and by his manly bearing and courteous ways was readily recognized as the true gentleman that he was by all who came in contact with him. He was very popular and numbered his friends by his acquaintances. The trust and confidence that his fellow citizens placed in him is shown by the many offices and positions of trust they gave to him. He was a splendid public servant and eminent authorities pronounce him to have been the best man that ever filled the place which he held at the time of his death.

He had been in ill health for several months but bore his intense suffering with true Christian fortitude, realizing his condition yet being brave and cheerful for the sake of his loved ones. Mr. White was a member of the Presbyterian church.

The deceased is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Mary Owings, of this county; his mother, Mrs. Bettie White, of this city, and one brother, Mr. W. B. White, also of this city. He was widely connected and his death will be greatly mourned throughout the

CANDIDATES WITHDRAW

As will be seen from the following notices Messrs. Lee Wainseott and H. C. Gillaspie have withdrawn from the race for State Senator in this district, leaving Messrs. Abram Renick and George Hon only in the race:

"Winchester, Ky.,
July 27, 1917

Mt. Sterling Advocate,

Dear Sirs:—

Please withdraw my name in the race for Senator.

Yours truly,
Lee Wainseott."

"Mt. Sterling, Ky.,
July 28, 1917

To the Democratic Voters of Montgomery, Clark and Bourbon Counties:

Being unable to make an active canvass for State Senator in this District, I want to thank each and all of you for the support which you so kindly offered to give me, but owing to circumstances I have decided to withdraw my name as a candidate before the Primary to be held on August 4, 1917, and I hereby release my friends that are pledged to me.

Thanking you for many past favors, I remain,

Very truly yours,

H. C. Gillaspie

entire State.

The body will be brought to this city on the noon train tomorrow (Wednesday) and taken from there to the cemetery, where services will be conducted at the grave by Dr. Yeaman, assisted by Rev. Darsie.

The Advocate tenders deepest sympathy to the family in their great bereavement.

APPOINTED CORPORAL

Mr. Ben H. Scott, son of Mr. Thos. Scott, of this city, who is stationed at Syracuse, N. Y., has been appointed Corporal in Company M., 9th Infantry. Mr. Scott has many friends here who will be pleased to learn of his rapid advancement.

The Advocate for printing.

GOOD WOMAN IS CALLED

Mrs. Hayden H. Salyer Dies at Her Home Near Camargo Saturday Night

Mrs. Narcissus Salyer, wife of Mr. Hayden H. Salyer, died at her home near Camargo last Saturday night. She had been a great sufferer all her life and her death was the result of a complication of diseases. Though her illness was lingering her death came as great shock to the anxious loved ones who watched by her bedside.

She was born in Morgan county, and was sixty-five years old at the time of her death. She was married to Hayden B. Salyer September 10, 1875.

She was a member of the Sycamore Christian church and was active in church work all her life and ready to help at all times.

Mrs. Salyer is survived by her husband and three sons, Bruce, Claude and Ellis, all of this county.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at three o'clock by the Rev. Clyde Darsie, assisted by the Rev. James A. Davis, and the remains were laid to rest in the family burial ground near the home.

This good woman's death will be greatly mourned by all her friends and relatives to whom she was always a constant helper and loving mother.

The Advocate extends sympathy to the bereaved family.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

A pony cart driven by Mrs. Roy Morris and two daughters, was run into Thursday evening and upset by a buggy driven by Mr. William Ledford. Mrs. Morris and children were thrown out and bruised considerably but we are glad to say that no one was seriously injured.

WILL RACE AT FAIR

Mr. J. R. Macgowan shipped four of his horses to Lexington. They will be raced at the Blue Grass Fair.

To the Democrats of Montgomery:

It has come to my knowledge that reports have been circulated in various parts of this county to the effect that I will withdraw or quit the race for the nomination for Sheriff. The report is untrue. I have no intention of quitting; Mr. Barnes and Mr. Fortune and I will stay in the race until we win or are beaten.

I have strong hope that the Democracy of this my native county will endorse a candidate for this important office who has no alliance with any faction or clique, who is running his own race and leaving all other races alone, and who will not corrupt a single voter or violate the law in any particular to win. On these principles, I again solicit your support.

The false report that I will withdraw must have been started by some one to further his own interests and injure me.

Very respectfully,
RICHARD P. WINN

COMMUNITY CLUB

Meeting at auditorium of Consolidated Schools at Camargo, August 6th, at 7 p. m. Principal feature for the evening will be: Discussion of contents of a question box to be opened containing questions in regard to any farm or domestic problem. Everybody is requested to have questions in writing to place in box at time appointed. Other features of the entertainment will be recitation, "The Moneyless Man," by young lady of neighborhood; songs by Mr. J. T. Coons and daughters and short address by Prof. Williams, principal of the high school.

The only thing that worries us, however, is how we can cough up our share of the expense of this war and still have three square meals a day left.

Subscribers who "pay up" are never "dunned." A hint to the wise is sufficient.

BEST FAIR EVER HELD

Finest Racing Program Ever Seen at a Country Fair Given Here Last Week.

We have heard a large number of people compliment the Montgomery County Fair, which closed here last Saturday, and especially the racing program, which was conceded to be the finest one ever witnessed at a country fair in this section of the State. No expense had been spared and every race saw quite a number of horses striving for the purses. Mr. Nat Young, Jr., was the most fortunate owner as he started horses in two races and won them both. We know of no other owner that won over one race. The Floral Hall was visited by large crowds who enjoyed looking at the splendid display there. A complete list as furnished us by Mrs. W. H. Wood of the prize winners will be found on another page of this paper. The fair board will meet shortly and it will then be decided whether or not there will be a fair here next year. We urge the people to get behind the fair board and help them in building up the association. It would be an excellent idea to have a display of farm products, etc., and get the interest of the country people aroused in the fair for with their help and co-operation we are sure the Montgomery County Fair can be made a grand success.

Secretary W. Hoffman Wood and the whole board deserve credit for the excellent manner in which the fair was managed and we again urge the people to get behind them and boost the institution that will be of great benefit to us all if we will but do our part to make it a success. We are willing, are you?

MRS. PLANCK DIES

Mrs. Pauline Planck, wife of Mr. Jack Planck, died at her home on Sycamore street last Tuesday morning. Mrs. Planck was loved by all who knew her. She moved about in her quiet, unassuming way, serving and helping those less fortunate than herself and was never happier than when giving aid to someone. She was a member of the Christian church and although unable to attend frequently on account of ill health she was a devout Christian and a great worker. She had been in poor health for several years but was a patient sufferer, never complaining but always cheerful and considerate of the ones around her. She was a woman of whom it may be said: "None knew her but to love her, Nor named her but to praise."

She was fifty-three years old at the time of her death. Before her marriage she was Miss Paulina Tapp. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Wilson Broadus, and one grandchild of Covington; three sisters, Mrs. Oscar Baird, of this city; Mrs. W. S. Dunn, of Clark county; Mrs. Toliver Vice, Winchester, and three brothers, Mr. E. N. Tapp, of Kingsbury, Idaho; Mr. Chas. Tapp, Richmond; Mr. W. T. Tapp, Winchester. The funeral was preached Wednesday afternoon by Rev. J. W. Harding, of Winchester. The body was laid to rest in Mchelpelah. Quite a number from a distance attended the funeral of this lovely woman whose death will be a distinct loss to the community.

WITH THE ADVOCATE

Miss Elizabeth McCoun, who recently returned from Ward-Belmont College, has accepted a position for the summer with this paper and will have charge of the personal and social columns. Miss McCoun is an exceedingly bright, ambitious young woman and we are very fortunate in being able to secure her services and sure that she will prove a valuable addition to our staff.

Some Reasons Why You Should Vote For

EARL W. SENFF
For COUNTY JUDGE

He has conducted his campaign in a clean, honorable way, without throwing any MUD at anybody or criticising his opponent [whom he esteems a gentleman] in any way.

He knows the law and has the courage to enforce it, and is acquainted with every detail of the county's business.

He has no favorites and will not favor one man or section of the county over any other.

He is his own boss and takes orders from no man or set of men.

He is on no slate or line-up and will not be, but is attending strictly to his own race, without meddling in any others.

He stands for better roads, better government and cleaner politics.

HARRY F. HOWELL

Has the desire to serve the taxpayers of Montgomery county, as

Assessor

His duties as Sheriff have been so exacting and confining because of the extra work devolving upon him in connection with the Military Draft Registration that there may be some voters whom he has been unable to see in person.

He realizes that the office which he is asking for is a very important one, and having had the experience of handling the tax books he does not hesitate to promise that he will do the work well. He asks that every Democratic voter thoroughly consider his claims, and wishes to assure each one that he will appreciate their support very much.

HYSTERIA NOT PATRIOTISM

There are those who would have us believe that because the people of this country are not ablaze with enthusiasm and shouting their patriotism from the housetop they are necessarily not in sympathy with the war program. But no greater mistake in judgment was ever made. The American people as a mass have regretted the necessity for going to war. We had hoped against hope that it could be avoided. Even at this day there is an undercurrent of hope that in some way, consistent with honor, the dire consequences of war as felt by the European nations may be avoided.

But while this hope is in the national heart, there is also in that heart a grim, deadly determination that certain objects MUST be attained, even though our sacrifice equal or exceed that of the others.

Our people were slow to arouse, even yet are only partially awake.

HOW HIGH PRODUCERS MAY BE SELECTED

White Leghorn Cockerel and Flock of Pullets.

It is not only possible but desirable to pick out the high-producing hens in the flock by means of external characteristics, according to W. A. Lippincott, professor of poultry husbandry in the Kansas State agricultural college.

"Hens that molt late are high producers," says Professor Lippincott. "Because they have a longer period in which to lay. Late molting is the accompaniment of late laying, but the mere fact of late molting does not make high producers. The hens that molt late begin laying as early as the early molters, because they molt much more rapidly and lose less time.

"In the yellow-skinned breeds the pateness of shank is a very reliable indication in the fall at the end of the first year. The high producers lay the color out of their shanks, and so any bird with yellow shanks after a year of laying has been a poor producer for that year.

"These birds with soft and pliable combs about October 1 are in general better producers than those with hard and dried-up combs. As a bird molts the comb tends to shrink and become hard, but birds in good condition and laying have pliable combs.

"With the White Leghorn pullets which have yellow pigment in the earlobe at the start of the season a white earlobe will be an indication of high production. These birds with yellow pigment in the earlobe will lay out this color until the lobes are white.

"The smoothness, pliability and oiliness of the skin are indications of egg production. A laying bird has a softer, smoother feeling than the non-laying bird.

"Due to the yolks developing in the ovary and the increase in size of the oviduct, the abdomen swells out in preparation for the laying season. When a bird gets ready to stop laying the abdomen shrinks. This fact is valuable in telling what the bird may do for the next two or three weeks, or by knowing whether the bird is laying at a certain time of the year.

"The practical application of these facts is to discard at the end of a laying year all pullets which have yellow shanks, dried-up combs and shrunken abdomens."

DEVELOPMENT OF THE CHICK

Egg Furnishes Feed, Water and Other Necessary Essentials—Heat Causes Incubation.

Each egg produced by good, vigorous hens running with a strong rooster and housed and fed under proper conditions is the possibility of another chick. In the egg is a home and it contains feed, water and all that is necessary for the development of the chick, except heat. It is the application of this heat under favorable conditions that is called incubation. At the time the egg is laid the development of the chick has been going on rapidly for several hours. As soon as the temperature drops down below 70 degrees F. this growth stops and the embryo goes into a resting stage until the egg is again warmed up. This very young chick, called the blastoderm, rests on the upper surface of the yolk.

Immediately surrounding the yolk extending out at opposite sides toward the large and small ends of the egg is a dense opaque layer of albumin or white called chalazas which tends to support the yolk and lessens its movement, except as it revolves on the chalazas as an axis to keep the blastoderm at the top. The rest of the white is more watery and more transparent and is surrounded by two rather tough membranes and the shell. These two membranes separate at the large end of the egg and form the air cell which in a fresh egg is about the size of a dime, but increases with age due to evaporation of moisture. The shell being porous permits the passage of air or moisture in or out.

CLEAN THE CHICKEN BROODER

Give Chicks Good Start by Disinfecting Before Placing Them in It—Use Hot Water.

Give the chicks a good start by cleaning and disinfecting the brooder before they are placed in it. The Pennsylvania State college experiment station recommends scrubbing with hot water or the use of a 3 to 5 per cent solution of any of the coal tar or other commercial disinfectants. Have the brooder dry before the chicks are introduced into it. Cleaning the brooder once a week during the brooding period is a good practice.

MACHINE-HATCHING IN FAVOR

Forceful Argument Is Number of Eggs Broken and Spoiled by Hens—Average Is Large.

A forceful argument in favor of machine-hatching is the number of eggs broken and spoiled by sitting hens. Even under the most satisfactory hen-hatching conditions the breakage will often average 15 to 30 per cent of the eggs set. Other eggs are smeared when not broken and the chicks lack air to develop sufficient vigor to break the shell.

WASTE OF TIME TO DOCTOR

Attention to Details, Constant Watchfulness and Careful Feeding Are of Great Importance.

Successful poultrymen spend much time in trying to prevent disease. Attention to details, constant watchfulness and careful feeding play the most important part in the everyday life of the prominent breeder. No much time is given, therefore, to prevention that it is considered a waste of time to doctor when disease appears.

RANGE FOR YOUNG CHICKENS

Problem of Supply Green Feed Does Not Receive Sufficient Attention From Farmer.

The problem of supplying a range or green feed for chicks does not receive sufficient attention. This is an important side of the proper rearing of poultry and the farmer who has sour skim milk to spare and a good green range has more than half his chick problem solved.

For temporary feeding, one can soak oats overnight in water, wash them thoroughly next morning and spread them in half-inch layers in boxes or trays. Place these trays in the shade outdoors and sprinkle with water twice daily. In from three to six days the oats will be ready for feeding. For baby chicks feed when the sprouts are one-half inch long, giving once daily what the chicks will eat in about ten minutes.

Rape may be sown and, when grown, cut up and fed to chicks. Cabbage, lettuce, mangels, beets, turnips can also be used for green feed.

The only really satisfactory way, however, to supply green feed and a good range is to sod a piece of land to Bermuda grass by plowing the ground and dropping a piece of Bermuda sod every 13 inches, and to put some burr clover into this Bermuda grass in the fall.

FEED PENS FOR BABY CHICKS

Wire Covered Yard of Laths, Placed Close Enough to Keep Old Fowls Out, Will Suffice.

If old and young chicks are allowed to range together, feeding pens should be made for the baby chicks. A wire covered yard of laths, placed far enough apart to permit the chicks to get between, and wide enough so that the older birds cannot reach their heads in to feed, is cheaply and easily made. A box deep enough to prevent the old birds reaching in, with a wire fence in front, will protect the feed hoppers from the weather. In such hoppers, keep a dry mash of ground grains, charcoal, cracked bone and grit. The hoppers should not furnish the only food; cracked corn scattered in the litter makes a good exerciser.

FEED SHOULD BE NUTRITIOUS

Good Practice to Throw Limited Amount of Rolled Oats on Floor for Chicks to Clean Up.

A good first feed is to throw a limited amount of rolled oats on the floor, only the amount that the chicks will clean up in about one hour. Rolled oats are very nutritious and relished by the chicks and are excellent as a first feed. However, their continued use is not advised. Hard boiled eggs, ground in a food chopper and mixed with dry crumms may also be successfully used as a first feed.

FIRST FEED FOR THE CHICKS

Dry Mash Mixture Given Until Fowls Are Six Weeks Old, Fed in Self-Feeding Hoppers.

Dry mash, which is fed until chicks are six weeks old in shallow boxes or self-feeding hoppers, is compounded as follows:

Five pounds blood meal, three pounds charcoal, twenty pounds middlings, twenty-two pounds cornmeal, twenty-two pounds buckwheat meal, twenty-three pounds oatmeal, five pounds fine bone meal.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Thedford's

Black-Draught

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator. We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75

DISTRIBUTION OF MAN POWER

Viewing the matter in the light of sober reason, which is most necessary at this time—we must all see wherein Congress had weighty reasons for its action in voting to raise an army by selective draft.

We can not think that our law makers were inspired by any prejudice against the volunteer system, nor that they intended any discredit to the volunteer spirit of our people. The impelling reason seems to have been that the recruiting of any army is only one of the huge tasks before this country. There is also the huge task of practically feeding the world or at least our allies, which calls for much thought and discrimination in the mustering of our forces.

It is the intention of the government in recruiting the regiments needed to interfere as little as possible with the various branches of industry, particularly that of farming. To this end the authorities were convinced that the selection of recruits should not be left to voluntary action, but placed in competent hands that should decide who should FIGHT and who should WORK.

With the calling of men to the colors, the people should take this sensible view of the situation, and realize that if one young man is exempted and another is not, there is some all powerful reason for the discrimination. Those most urgently needed in industrial life should be the last to be summoned, for when industry stops the army is soon at a standstill.

The time has come when every man is expected to do his full duty in whatever station he may be called. There is no room for slackers and soreheads and grumblers.

At Last—A One-Adjustment Cream Separator

BEFORE you buy any cream separator, come in and look at the Primrose. One adjustment is all that is necessary to keep it in perfect operating condition at all times. This adjustment is a simple one for keeping the bowl at the correct height—an adjustment that you or your wife can safely make, whenever it's necessary.

The adjustment is made from the outside of the separator by either raising or lowering the bearing containing the hardened steel point, upon which the spindle revolves. A slight turn with a screwdriver, perhaps once a year, does the work. The Primrose is a well-constructed, close-skimming, durable cream separator. It will make a saving of $10.00 to $15.00 per cow in your herd per year. It is made in four sizes to separate 350 to 850 pounds of milk per hour, or from about 40 to 98 gallons. Ask for a catalogue giving a complete description, or, come in and look over the Primrose yourself.

WHY MANY MEN FAIL.

They Lack Adequate Training For Their Chosen Life Work.

There are some facts of life upon which statistics are not available, but where none are needed, to carry a conviction of their truth. The statement that a great many young men have chosen the wrong business or profession for their life's work can readily be believed, although there is no way of telling just how many such persons there are.

Everybody can recall innumerable instances of bright young men who have chosen an occupation for which they are not suited and by reason thereof have become mere drudges, eking out a precarious subsistence and with life holding out an unattractive future for them.

Such a condition will always exist to some extent, but this is no reason why an attempt should not be made to examine into the problem for the purpose not only of limiting the number of misfits among workers, but also of so organizing our labor resources that the best interests of our country may be subserved, especially at this time, when it is necessary to recognize what those interests are and to make preparation to take care of them.

America has in the past been a land of wonderful opportunities. Our great resources of land in extent and productiveness, the great number of important things to be done, the very youth of our country, have made it possible for many men with limited educational resources and with little constructive preparation to reach positions of high material prosperity. This fact, in the eyes of many persons, has tended to belittle preparation and the intelligent organization of one's powers for life's work.

"Abraham Lincoln became a great lawyer with little or no early education" has been the stock argument of all those who have opposed higher educational standards for entrance into the professions. The opinion prevails too generally throughout our country that an American can accomplish without preparation that to which the men of Europe give years of constructive work.—Irwin G. Jennings in Scribner's.

Ireland's Big Cavern.

A Frenchman made the first complete exploration of one of the largest caverns in the world, that at Mitchelstown, Ireland. The explorer was Martel, who is also famous for his discoveries in the caverns of France. The Mitchelstown cavern is formed in limestone and is remarkable for the number and extent of its connected passages, which when plotted on a chart resemble the streets of a city. The length of the cave is a mile and a quarter, and it contains some animal inhabitants, including a species of spider, which are peculiar to it and have their entire existence within its recesses.

A Bishop's Comment.

Bishop W. A. Candler was once advocating a more liberal loosening of the purse strings and told his audience that several years before he sent an article to a paper in which he said: "We pray too loud and work too little." The compositor, consciously or unconsciously, perpetrated a little joke, for when the article appeared it read, "We pray too loud and work too little." "I let it go at that," said the bishop. "The fact is, I believe the printer was right, and I never ventured to correct him."

Man and His Weight.

Between forty and fifty a man who allows his weight to remain high is running more danger of an early demise than he would run if he contracted typhoid fever. What is more, if he were stricken with that disease his chance of recovery would be 10 per cent less than normal. A man who is thinner than the average, on the other hand, has less danger of dying in the decade than a man who tips the scales at the normal figure.

Bacon's Dream.

Francis Bacon, the "wisest of mankind," was superstitious and had firm faith in "signs and tokens." When in Paris he dreamed that he saw the family home in England covered with black mortar, and he insisted that it was a sign of death. In due time he received the announcement of the death of his father, who had passed away the night of the dream.

The Cause of Earthquakes.

When there is an earthquake the Tibetans know just how it happened. There are evil spirits. "Some of them are gigantic brutes a mile in height, with tiny mouths which prevent them swallowing even the smallest crumb of any kind of food. Naturally they suffer from hunger, and in their agonized writhings they are the immediate cause of earthquakes."

THE RAILROADS AND ROAD BUILDING

The attitude of the railroad interests toward road building has been very helpful in the past and it is imperative that it continue so under the conditions obtaining now and likely to obtain for some time to come. Heretofore the railroads have been quick to recognize the necessity of highways as feeders to their lines and have frequently made special rates for the transportation of road building materials and have sometimes provided special facilities. In the present situation they should insist upon the inclusion of road building materials in the classes to be given preference.

As we have pointed out before, there has never been a time in the country's history when road improvement was of greater importance than it is in 1917. There is not an industry that does not have to pay tribute to bad roads nor one that would not be benefitted by better roads. Hardly one of the many problems now confronting the nation but that could be solved more easily were the roads of the country in better condition. Expenditures for non-essentials, for luxuries, must be curtailed to meet new expenditures in some lines and largely increased expenditures in others, but roads are neither non-essentials nor luxuries. They are essential—essential to commercial development, essential to military successes, and essential to social, intellectual and moral progress.

Difficulties have been experienced recently by shippers of road building materials because of preference given by the railroads to other freight. The order causing this trouble is understood to have been modified as a result of protests, but it is an example of what may be expected unless those in charge of the country's affairs can be made to see not only the necessity for non-interference with road work, but also the wisdom of doing everything possible to further it. Let there be no embargo, either partial or complete, on road building materials.—Good Roads Magazine.

When the history of this war is written an entire volume should be devoted to the monumental lies and fakery that are sent out from neutral countries seven days in the week. They should be preserved for the edification of antiquity.

A WORD FOR THE TELEPHONE GIRLS

(By Col. Geo. Bain.)

A sat in the central office of a telephone company and watched the operators at their work. Their eyes were fixed on the board noting the numbers as the calls came, while their fingers flew in making the connections.

At times one would be behind in keeping up with the calls, but not a second was lost in effort to reach the waiting one.

I said to myself: "Never more will I get impatient when central does not answer promptly. She may be moving as fast as her fingers can carry her to my call."

We go to the doctor and wait our turn, go to the theatre window, barber shop or voting booth; but if central does not answer in five seconds we want to know if she's asleep or reading a book.

Let us remember, "there are others," and wait our turn. The continued beating of bells on the ear drum is hard on the nerves. Be more patient and pleasant at the 'phone if you would be just to the telephone girl.

THE PHOTODRAMA

Stories, Notes and News Items Concerning Film Stars and "Movies" in General.

Do You Know Her Name?

To the first three persons handing in the correct name of this actress at the box office, Tabb Theatre, tonight (Wednesday) between 7 and 8 o'clock p. m., will be awarded a week's pass. Guess who and get in the picture show free for a week.

Movie Notes.

All Europe has about one-third as many picture houses as the United States.

Charlotte Walker, who appears in "Mary Lawson's Secret," was born in Galveston, Tex., in 1878.

Earle Williams is 36 years old.

Blanche Payson is the tallest movie actress. She reaches up six feet four inches.

Remnants of Old "Feudal System."

That remnants of the old "feudal system" still exists in remote corners of the world is shown in "Heart's Desire," a Paramount Picture produced by Famous Players and starring Marie Doro at the Tabb Theatre tonight. A quaint little island off the coast of France is shown which is practically controlled by one family, the head of which is called the "Seigneur" or "Lord," and who can exact as much or as little rent from the peasant as he pleases. This is an example of some of the out-of-to-way places where this custom is still allowed to remain in practice, and the terrible effect of a hard master or owner is shown in the unhappiness of the peasants under the management of Henri le Roque who forces them to increase their rent—or else sacrifice their property to him. The way this was changed and peace and happiness restored to the little community by the efforts of one girl, Fleur-ette, as played by Marie Doro, is shown with fascinating allurements in "Heart's Desire."

"Beware of the Flatterer."

A sermon for girls, showing them the folly of yielding to flattery, is contained in "The Soul Master," the Greater Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature which will be presented at The Tabb, Thursday, August 2nd.

Earle Williams, perhaps the best liked leading man on the screen stage today, is featured in the picture, but the story centers around little Katherine Lewis, who plays the role of his daughter. The climax of the story is built up from the time that the girl, known as Ruth Carroll, consents to become companion to a conscienceless woman who acts as agent for an admirer of Ruth. She leaves her place as saleslady in the department store of her father, whose identity is unknown to her and falls into the trap that is set by the other woman and the wealthy admirer.

Miss Lewis, who plays the role of the innocent young girl with unusual charm and appeal, says that during the entire time she was making the picture she thought of the perils to which girls are exposed in stores.

"The chief danger as I see it," she declared, "is the trustfulness of the girls. Most of them are poor and underpaid, they work long hours and their lives are empty. It is small wonder that, when a designing woman, apparently sincere, comes to them with an offer of a better environment and an easier life, they fall victims to the flattery of the sugary promises."

PRIVATE BATHS

SOAK 'EM, LOUIE!

Members of Congress are complaining because Washington hotels and cafes are robbing them. They charge that they are required to pay $5.00 for a meal that can be purchased in London for $1.60. It hits them hardest where it counts the most—in the pocketbook.

Bully! Soak 'em, Louie! Pile it on and pick 'em to the bone!

It gives us poor devils who are writhing in the strangling grasp of food speculators an opportunity to laugh, to howl, to literally double up and shriek in unrestrained glee.

The fact that the food pirates are robbing the people blind does not bother the average gentleman in Washington, but when the pirate creeps into Washington and picks the Congressional pocket Mr. Congressman roars like a stuck pig.

It's great sport to see doctors and Congressmen gulping down their own medicine once in awhile.

Go to it! Soak 'em again, and soak 'em hard!

Yes, the slackers are getting three meals a day from the wardens and hell from the rest of the prisoners.

TO BE EXACT

Troops sheltered under canvas are "in camp." When resting on the ground without shelter they are "in bivouac." When occupying buildings in towns or villages, or huts specially erected, they are "in cantonment." A "mobilization camp" is a place in the territory from which troops are drawn in which they are assembled to be raised to war strength, equipped and prepared for service.

A "concentration camp" is a fixed place near the scene of intended operations, or near land or water transport.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

EVERY DAY

the L. & N. distributes $148,300 throughout the South for operation of its trains and up-keep of its property.

This daily distribution is made possible through the successful management of a constructive railroad which is an important factor in Southern progressive development and commercial supremacy.

Because the L. & N. realizes that its interest and the interest of the people are mutual, it co-operates in every possible manner for better farms, (the foundation of all prosperity); for better industrial conditions; for better commercial co-operation; for better educational facilities; for more cordial social relations.

Through their share in the L. & N.'s daily distribution of $148,300 many individuals and enterprises are able to realize their desire for business prosperity and personal happiness.

A considerable portion of the $7,200.00 paid daily for taxes is devoted to Southern education.

One out of every ten people derives his or her means of livelihood directly or indirectly from the railroad industry. The L. & N. operates in nine Southern states. Therefore the ability of the L. & N. to operate successfully is a matter of vital concern to Southern prosperity.

The Old Reliable

EVERY time the sun sets on the South-land, the L. & N. pays out $148,300 in the operation and up-keep of its line of road.

It costs every day—
$69,900 for wages.
$47,700 for material and supplies.
$23,500 for interest and rent.
$7,200 for taxes.

WHAT IS A MAN?

Break a Thousand Eggs and You Will Have His Contents.

What is a man? How much is he worth from a scientific viewpoint?

According to one way of looking at it a man is worth about $2.50 a day from his shoulders down and anywhere from $50,000 to $1,000,000 a year from his shoulders up. This may be said to be the estimate of the average successful business man.

The scientist, however, looks at the question from another angle, says the Popular Science Monthly. According to him, a man is worth $2.45 for illuminating purposes, since a man weighing 150 pounds contains about 3,500 cubic feet of oxygen, hydrogen and nitrogen in his constitution, which at 70 cents per 1,000 cubic feet equals the price above; also a man contains enough carbon to make 9,360 lead pencils, enough phosphorus to make 800,000 matches or enough to kill 500 persons and enough water to fill a thirty-eight quart reservoir.

Furthermore, it makes no difference how sour a man may look he contains about sixty lumps of sugar, a great deal of starch, chloride of potash, magnesium, sulphur and hydrochloric acid in his system. There are fifty grains of iron in the blood of an ordinary man, enough to make one spike large enough to hold his weight.

What is a man? This is the somewhat cynical answer of one scientific man:

"Break the shells of 1,000 eggs into a huge pan or basin and you have ingredients from which to form him from his toe nails to the most delicate tissues of his brain."

Mozart's Musical Memory.

Mozart had a wonderful memory of musical sounds. When only fourteen years of age he went to Rome to hear the famous "Miserere" of Allegri. Being aware that it was forbidden to take or give a copy of this renowned composition, Mozart gave the strictest attention to the music and on leaving the church noted down the entire piece. A few days afterward he heard it a second time and, following the music with his own copy in his hand, satisfied himself of the fidelity of his memory. The next day he sang the "Miserere" at a concert, accompanying himself on the harpsichord, and the performance produced such a sensation in Rome that Pope Clement XIV. requested that this musical prodigy should be presented to him at once.

Novelty.

The enormous influence of novelty—the way in which it quickens observation, sharpens sensation and exalts sentiment—is not half enough taken note of by us and is to me a very sorrowful matter. And yet, if we try to obtain perpetual change, change itself will become monotonous. The two points of practical wisdom in the matter are, first, to be content with as little novelty as possible at a time, and, second, to preserve as much as possible the sources of novelty.—Ruskin.

First Title of "Vanity Fair."

Brighton, England, holds memories of Thackeray. It was while staying at the Old Ship that he commenced a novel which was to be called "Pencil Sketches of English Society." One night as he was lying in bed a better title suddenly occurred to him.

"I jumped out of bed," he told Miss Perry afterward, "and ran three times round my room, entering as I went, 'Vanity Fair,' 'Vanity Fair,' 'Vanity Fair.'"

A Frank Critic.

Louis XIV., who, like many humble rimesters, somewhat overrated his poetical powers, showed a copy of verses to Boileau and asked his candid opinion of them.

"Ah, sire," said the poet, "I am more convinced than ever that nothing is impossible to your majesty. You desired to write some poor rimes, and you have succeeded in making them positively detestable."

Origin of a Hymn.

The origin of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," Rev. S. Baring-Gould's famous hymn, is thus told: Some Sunday school children were to march from one village to another, and as Mr. Baring-Gould knew of no suitable hymn for them to sing on the way he sat down and wrote one, which he never dreamed would attain such worldwide popularity.

Men Who Wear Combs.

In India men wear combs in their hair much more than women do. A Singapore gentleman wears what we know as the circular comb and a very ornamental back comb of tortoise shell to gather his curly locks together. He wears a full beard also, but his servant must trim his own beard and is allowed to wear the circular comb only.

Get Your Coal Now

We now have a good supply of coal on hand but on account of the war, car shortage, etc., we are unable to tell just how much coal we will be able to secure during the next few weeks. Take our advice and lay in your supply now. Delay may be dangerous.

Helen Took No Chances.

The other day Helen's mother prepared a lunch which Helen carried to school. When she returned home that day Helen said: "I didn't eat my lunch today, mamma; somebody took it from my desk." The next day Helen's mother again prepared a lunch and instructed her to be more careful with it this time. So on her return from school when her mother asked: "Did anyone take your lunch today?" Helen shook her head and replied: "No, they couldn't; I sat on it."

Wanted His Penny Back.

A Pittsfield (Mass.) mother told her little son to drop his penny in the plate when the man came round in the church. He did as he was told. The man didn't come back and the youngster began to ask the reason why. He became quite noisy in his demand to know when that man was going to bring back his penny. Mother quieted him as best she could and after church explained.

The Law and the Fact.

"Your case would have been stronger, Mr. McGuire," said a lawyer, "if you had acted only on the defensive. But you struck first. If you had let him strike you first you would have had the law on your side." "Yes," said McGuire, "I'd have had the law on my side, but I'd have had him on me stomach, pounding the loffe out av me."

Dogs Reared for Human Food.

Among the Chinese a particular species of dog is said to be reared for the table. It is a small dog of a greyhound shape, with a muzzle much more elongated than in terriers. The flesh of black dogs is preferred to that of animals of any other color on account of the greater amount of nutriment the black dogs are supposed to possess.

It is becoming apparent to any school boy that the more Congress talks of food control the less it knows of what it is talking about.

Opal Feels Climatic Changes.

The opal is a stone "with a temper." The diamond rises superior to climate, as does the ruby, the emerald and the sapphire, but the opal is of such delicate organization that, when exposed to severe cold, it loses color, and under the influence of excessive moisture becomes dull. It is a curious fact, however, that the temperature of one's hand will cause it to resume its wanted fire and brilliancy, as will also be the case when it is exposed to the direct rays of the sun.

New York's Funeral Barge.

There is a little boat on the East river, New York, known as the Fidelity, which is the funeral barge of 5,760 persons a year. Every morning, rain or shine, it steams up the East river on its daily tour of the various hospitals and institutions. Bodies of those who have died are returned to the morgue to be left from seven to ten days, waiting for a claimant. There are about 120 a week, 480 a month, or an average of 5,760 a year.

Peculiar Boundary Line.

The strangest of European frontier lines is that marking the boundary between Hanover and Holland, where it crosses the Rhine. A row of pontoons lies across the river, chained bow and stern. Inasmuch as the dividing line runs through from stem to stern, the eastern halves of the boats are painted in German colors, the western in Dutch. The effect is most striking.

Daily Thought.

Why tell me that a man is a fine speaker if it is not the truth that he is speaking? If an eloquent speaker is not speaking the truth, is there a more horrid kind of object in creation?—Caryle.

DUSTLESS DUST

The German Government is making desperate efforts to throw dust into the eyes of the American people and thereby hush them to fancied security and consequent inactivity. Nine-tenths of the lurid stories about peace that come from Berlin are nothing but diplomatic dust. But it is dustless dust, for it will not shake our prosecution of the war in the slightest degree. The war will be fought to a finish, and that day will also see the end of Kaiserdom and autocracy.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

Prices Still Rising

The prices of shoes have soared and may go still higher. Why buy new shoes just now? We ask only reasonable charges for expert work in shoe repairing. We do not cobble shoes but rebuild them and do not nail any shoes that have welts.

Whatever you do, don't cast your bread upon the waters. A sub might get it.

The Kaiser, we opine, might just as well save his breath and the millions he is paying in subsidizing foreign correspondents. When the war is over the allies will dictate their own terms and His Kaiseriship will walk up and humbly receive the crumbs that are tossed to him.

Uncle Sam, it is intimated, may pay his soldiers in French coin. Our delinquent subscribers may continue to nibble our way with the good old American plunks.

Don't bank too much on the smiles and kisses you are going to get from the French lassies, son. The fighting is done in the trenches, and not on the boulevards of Paris.

Again, we remark, Uncle Sam is slow at starting, but he pushes the breeze, and kicks up the dust, and raises hum-hum when he does get to going.

Lord, but this town must be getting good. It has been an entire week since anyone came in to request us to omit some juicy item of news from the paper.

This more daylight campaign is of little amount to the average country editor. He'll have to whoop it up day and night just the same.

The cost of everything is still soaring, and Congress is still twaddling, and the speculating sharks are still sucking the warm blood of the nation. —1

Yes, Alexander, the Lord loves you, but He will not chase you all over the country trying to pound it into your thick skull.

No, brother, you shouldn't let up on the speculating hog, or he'll have your shirt soon.

Steops.

(By B. M. Goodan.)

Farmers are having a serious time harvesting hay.

Crops of all kinds are growing fine, each crop trying to outdo the other.

Everybody is glad that the Fair is over and they will still be gladder when the primary is "dead."

The "heat problem" is still one of great concern to many of our citizens.

Henry Frodge, who has been on the sick list for several days, is improving.

Coleman Wells was here last week from Columbus, O. Coleman has been in the army about four months.

Speaking of patriotism, what we want to know is a man who allows a combination of red, white and blue morning glories to grow in his field patriotic?

Simon P. Banks went Monday to Lexington to join the Kentucky National Guard.

A very small amount of grain has been threshed and unless this week is favorable what is not stacked will begin to damage.

Miss Anna Lou Barkley, of Paris, who has been visiting her uncle, Holt. Barkley, returned home Saturday.

Our citizens have sure been having a blackberry time. More of the "poor man's" fruit was put up this time than in 20 years.

Mrs. E. S. Conleton, of Lexington, came Saturday to visit relatives in this county.

Holt. Williams, wife and two children, of Owingsville, were visitors here Saturday and Sunday.

Treux Vice and family, of Sherburne, visited the family of Andrew Webb Thursday and Friday.

Thos. W. Fassett visited his daughter, Mrs. Hood Thompson, at Salt Lick, last week.

Born, July 23rd, to Andrew Webb and wife, a fine son.

Kiddville.

(By M. Conlee.)

The revival that is being carried on here by Brother R. M. Reynolds, will continue over next Sunday. There have been several converts and much interest is being shown. Brother Reynolds is a splendid preacher and the people of Kiddville are glad to have him in their midst.

Farmers are busily engaged in harvesting their hay now and there is a good crop this season.

J. W. Conlee has been on the sick list for several days, but is now improving.

F. N. Barton has sold his house and property here to Mr. Catern, of Stanton. Mr. Catern will take possession about Sept. 1st.

Rev. E. W. Foster, of the Kiddville Baptist church, has tendered his resignation to accept the position as assistant pastor to Dr. Porter, of the First Baptist church at Lexington. Brother E. V. May, of Georgetown, has been called to fill his place.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hon, of Grassy Lick, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pieratt Sunday afternoon.

WINS LOVING CUP

One of the handsomest loving cups it has been our pleasure to see is on exhibit in the office of Mr. H. G. Hoffman, the General Agent, in this city, for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., of California.

It is quite appropriately inscribed: "Presented to H. G. Hoffman as a testimonial of appreciation by the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California for writing One Million Dollars of New Business during the first six months of his agency. An accomplishment which we believe has been seldom equalled anywhere. July 18, 1917."

This is the second loving cup acquired by this office since February 1st, Mr. Hoffman's son, it will be remembered, winning a cup some weeks ago as the youngest agent of that company in the United States writing an application, his being on the life of the President, Mr. Geo. I. Cochran.

INJURED BY TRAIN

Julius Boyd, a colored man, employed by the Carey-Reed Co., was struck by the C. & O. passenger train Friday morning and his right foot was crushed. He was hurried to Lexington, where it was found that his foot was injured to such an extent that amputation was necessary.

RAT BITES MAN

Mr. Lee Ball, of the Wade's Mill section, was badly bitten by a rat last Tuesday. His suffering was very great at first and blood poison was feared for awhile.

HORSE ATTACKS MAN

Reckless, the trick show horse shown here last week at the Montgomery County Fair, became enraged at his trainer, Mr. R. V. Ray, Friday night and when Mr. Ray's back was turned jumped on him with his front feet, knocking him down, the horse then seized the man's right arm near the shoulder, tearing the muscles and ligaments loose, he then seized Mr. Ray in the right side, biting him severely and tearing the clothes from his body, and at the same time shaking him like a dog shaking a rat. Mr. R. T. Judy rushed to his assistance and beat the horse over the head with a walking cane until he released the man and Mr. Judy pulled him out of danger. He was attended by Doctors G. N. Cox and J. F. Reynolds, who happened to be in the tent at the time. It is reported that the horse had attacked his trainer earlier in the day but was beaten off. It was said on the grounds that the horse was exceedingly vicious and had killed his two previous trainers. The horse was undoubtedly the smartest one ever shown in this community, some of his "stunts" being remarkable. Young Ray is a son of Press Ray, of Bowling Green, one of the most prominent saddle horse men in Kentucky.

Complicated, but Easy.

"How do you get your husband to do what he doesn't want to do when you want him to do it?" "That's easy. I make a big fuss over something he has already done which I didn't want him to do, or I remind him of something which I have done which he wanted me to do and I didn't want to do, and soon he is doing what I want him to do just as though he had wanted to do it all along."—Detroit Free Press.

Smile Always Gets Results.

Do you know that when your face wears a smile, other people smile, too, without knowing why? Or when you look cross or downcast, other faces become shadowed? It is a fine thing to pass your lightness of heart along, but how about the other? If we are feeling sad, let us try to keep it to ourselves, and not, by an overcast face, pass it on to someone else.—Evangelical Herald.

Your Success.

Success for you is not the same thing as success for other people. Raphael's success was to paint great pictures, and Shakespeare's success was to write great plays, and the success of another may be trimming a hat, or raising flowers. The only way to be successful is to do the thing you are fitted to do, in the best way you are capable of doing it.

Couldn't Do Occasion Justice.

Andrew was a small boy, but big enough to scold when he lost his temper, which was quite often. One day his brother broke his toy wagon, but instead of scolding, as usual, he just cried. His mother asked what was the matter, but receiving no reply, asked: "Why don't you answer?" "I—I can't think of en-enough to say," he sobbed.

The Blushing Brides.

"Why are brides generally expected to be blushing as they walk down the aisle?" "I suppose," replied Suffron Long, glancing cautiously about and lowering his voice, "that a good many of them blush to think how they are going to subdue the lords of creation after they've safely got them."—Judge.

Why Not?

Erdix, a small boy of four, came into his aunt's house one day and said, "Auntie, did God use a pattern to make me by?" She replied, "I suppose so." "Then," said he, "he must have some pieces left over and why can't he put them together and make me a baby sister?"

She Always Cares.

A man gets after a while so that he doesn't care so very much for appearances, as long as things work all right and don't bother him, but we don't suppose a woman ever reaches the point where she can be happy unless all the silver is marked sterling.—Columbus (O.) Journal.

Enthusiastic Collectors.

It has been said that the seeker for rare orchids is the most enthusiastic collector in the world; time, money and effort mean nothing to him. However, he has a worthy rival in the collector of rare stumps, and it is a toss-up as to which would go the greater lengths to acquire a rare specimen.

FRIENDS, WE ARE NOT PESSIMISTIC

when we tell you that the most serious clothing situation that this generation has ever known or ever will know now confronts you. The man who patronized the imported woolen man and the gentleman who has worn the finest of domestic cloth will have now to come down to part wool and perhaps shoddy in case this war lasts. So serious is the situation that the retail clothing merchants throughout the U. S. will ask the manufacturers to make no radical changes in styles for seasons to come.
